EVENT

SAFEGUARDING PEACE IN EUROPE

After decades of supposed stability, the developments of recent months show how fragile the foundations of peace in Europe are. Once more we realize the importance of institutions that dedicate their work for creating and cultivating friendships beyond borders and thus maintain a good basis for dialogue and contacts in the respective regions. Friendships built up in times of peace are now relevant to support talks and discussions to find solutions in times of crisis.

Together with various institutions, the topic of international cooperation and its contribution to peace will be addressed. Current geopolitical issues discussed and the contribution of the regions will be illustrated.
